IVORY & BURT

Charles Ivory and J.M. Burt were two of Lodi's earliest settlers - starting the first store next to the railroad station on Pine and Sacramento Streets. The Ivory Store brought together a myriad of unique folks who created this special place - homesteaders, farmers and even winemakers.

LODI

Settled in 1859 and officially incorporated in 1906, Lodi's first citizens flocked to the area because of the railroad, but stayed for the agriculture opportunities. From wheat to watermelons, Lodi's original crops took advantage of the same climate and soil that makes it a prime location for growing high-quality winegrapes today.

The fertile soils are rich in minerals but well-drained and the classic Mediterranean climate with warm afternoons and cool evenings allow winegrapes to develop ripe fruit flavors. Fruit-forward wines with a nice acid balance characterizes the quintessential style which Lodi is known.

WINES

CHARDONNAY. Chardonnay winegrapes grown in the Lodi Appellation are known for their characteristic apple aromas and tropical flavors. Our Chardonnay has captured these refreshing and ripe qualities that are balanced by oak notes and spice from American oak aging. This is a classic style that is smooth and rich. Lodi Appellation. 13.8% Alcohol.

RED BLEND. Our Red Blend is crafted from Bordeaux varietals thriving in the Lodi Appellation: Cabernet Sauvignon, Malbec and Petit Verdot. These three unique varietals come together to create enticing layers of deep blackberry and cherry with intense red berry notes. As the wine finishes, the fruit character melds with spice from oak aging to create a fruit forward wine that is juicy throughout. Lodi Appellation. 14.2% Alcohol.

ZINFANDEL. The Lodi Appellation had a near perfect growing season with warm afternoons and cool evenings, leading to Zinfandel winegrapes with terrific quality - exactly what Lodi is known for. Concentrated aromas and flavors of rich cherry and lush blackberry are dominant throughout and come together with oak spice from new American oak aging. These prominent juicy fruit notes with the presence of oak make an enticing wine that is hard to set down. Lodi Appellation. 14.8% Alcohol.
